

New South Wales welcomes you to Sydney Innovation and Technology Precinct

17 June 2019

NSW Sydney Innovation and Technology Precinct

New South Wales is Australia's premier market for the technology sector, including the digital creative, innovation, information and communications technology (ICT) and start-up industries.

The sector offers great opportunities for investing in, moving to, or starting a new business. It has vast innovative talent driving new technologies, advanced research and innovation institutions, and a favourable regulatory and business environment.

Who should attend

This visit program has been designed for investors, investment promotion agencies, international business chambers, economic development agencies and delegates. The program will equip delegates with insights into the evolution of the Technology Sector, an understanding of the scale of development and investment opportunities across the ecosystems and information to promote opportunities to client.
